High Debaters Are Picked for Tryouts

The men who will represent Omaha in the high school debates with South Omaha and Lincoln were picked yesterday afternoon in the final debating tryouts. The students who will defend the affirmative and negative sides of the trust regulation question, with South Omaha and Lincoln, respectively, are: Harold Landerson, Earl Ticknor, Wahlfred Jacobson, Percy Dalsell, Earl Ketcham and Morris Jacobs.

The dates for the two contests are still undecided, but February 27 has been suggested for the debate with the Packers and either February 20, or March 8, for the struggle with the capital city. The dates will be definitely decided within the next few days by Coach Edward R. Burke and the debating management of the other schools.

Both debates will be held in Omaha this year and in all probability at the high school auditorium. South Omaha High school debates the Lincoln team tomorrow at South Omaha on the same question, and the local debaters are looking with interest upon the outcome of this contest.

The Sioux City High school debaters have written the local school for a debate, one contest to be held in each city. According to Coach Burke, however, an attempt will be made to secure a date with East Des Moines before a double debate with the former school.

Traffic Officer Dies in Hospital

Horace D. Corneau, traffic officer at Fourteenth and Farnam streets for the last few years and familiarly known as "Hod" to thousands of persons who daily pass the intersection, died last night in the Wise Memorial hospital after half a dozen surgeons and physicians had fought an uphill battle against a weak heart.

Corneau was stricken while on duty Saturday afternoon. He was taken to the hospital immediately and was conscious only for a few minutes since.

Corneau's home is at 415 North Forty-second avenue, and he is survived by his widow. He was appointed to the police department July 14, 1908, and had served continuously since. Besides being a Mason, he was also a member of the Modern Woodmen, the Moose and the Spanish War Veterans' association.

One time he was commander of the latter organization. He served with a company of Nebraska volunteers in Cuba and later in the Philippines. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ANXIOUS FOR THE PLAY

The first call for student tryouts for places on the senior play at the high school has resulted in more than seventy students declaring their intention of going out for the play, according to Coach Mills. A number of plays are being read for approval at present and the selection of the one to be presented by the class will be made within the month. The play will be given in the latter part of May.

BURGLARS SET FIRE TO P. STROUD'S HOME

Burglars nearly caused the destruction of the home of J. P. Stroud, 2909 California street, last night after they had robbed the place of $12 and some jewelry. A match, carelessly dropped, smoldered in a rug for several hours, but was discovered by Mr. Stroud in time to save the building. The blaze did $400 damage.

John Kelly, aged 65 years, who rooms on the second floor of the home, was saved from suffocation by smoke when the firemen awakened him and helped him to fresh air.

CANNOT LEGALLY BUY BONDS

Webster Holds Water Board Has No License to Buy Own Securities.

PETERSON MUST WAIT LONGER

Contractor Who Completed Job Five Months Ago Reprimanded and Asked to Keep His Patience for His Pay.

John L. Webster, attorney for the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water district, in an opinion submitted to the board at a meeting last night held that the board was without authority to buy back water works bonds, hold them for a while and then sell them again.

General Manager R. Beecher Howell and other members of the board had practically decided to invest $300,000 in their own bonds, which can be purchased at a low figure now.

In his opinion Attorney Webster said the Water board was merely a board of agents acting for the city, and that under the law the city did not have authority to purchase, hold and again sell its own bonds, once issued.

Contractor Peterson, who completed the laying of a water main August 15 of last year, came to inquire why the board had not paid him. Since only five months had elapsed since the work was completed and accepted, the presumptive contractor was sharply criticized by the members of the board for losing patience.

The contractor was told that if he would wait for a little while—until February 4—the board would take up the matter and consider it. They will have to re-advertise, owing to a clerical error. The board assesses property to pay the costs of water mains and if collections are delayed the contractor must wait for his pay.

ENDEAVOR FINDS BARBER WOULD CLOSE ON SUNDAYS

At the regular monthly meeting of the United Societies of the Christian Endeavor of the city, it was reported that out of twenty-eight barbers, who were interviewed Saturday afternoon twenty-six were in favor of closing their shops on Sunday. Regardless of the fact that the majority of the shops would rather close, some outside influence steps in, and the investigators declare, keeps the barbers from observing the law.

Many plans were laid at the meeting for Christian Endeavor week, which begins February 1. The main event of the week will be the banquet on Tuesday at the First Presbyterian church, Seventeenth and Dodge streets. At the present time it is estimated that about 136 will be present. A splendid program is planned.

Woman Finds City Father Unwilling to Close Gambling Resort.

POLICEMAN GETS INTO TROUBLE

Starts to Obey Order and Shut Up Place When He Finds Two City Officials Inside Enjoying Themselves.

Among the prominent Women's club workers of the Magic City is one who has had a real peep inside the workings of Mayor Hector's little government. The woman in question is a strong advocate of suffrage and is filled with the ideals of the suffragists who want clean government and honest officials. She was present a few nights ago at a suffrage meeting and heard Mayor Hector in his best style advocate the giving of the ballot to the women after he had decried the failures of the American constitution because he said they had unwisely inserted the word "male" in the constitution somewhere.

She forthwith held herself to one of the city officers with the request that a certain gambling joint on the north end of town be put out of business. Now this particular gambling joint was taken from one man and given ostensibly to another some months ago because, it was said, the former owner did not suit the powers. It is known as the joint where those of the powers who are inclined to "sit in" a little game can go and spend a few hours or more over the card tables and the crap tables and perhaps the black and red.

So when the woman suffragist asked that the joint be put out of commission she was met with smiles and bland assurances, but there was nothing doing when it came to putting the joint out of business.

Then the woman went to an official higher up. No results.

Then she went up and laid the case before Sheriff McKelvey. The sheriff listened and took notice, but a deputy in the office also took notice. It is said. Anyway there was nothing doing until a visit was paid to Chief Briggs.

"Sure," said Briggs, and then he called a detective and ordered him to close the joint.

"Pinch 'em," said the chief. The detective went and then returned precipitately.

"What for did you send me there, chief," asked the bull? It appears that the bull found two high city officials resting their Napoleonic minds by a little "game."

So the good woman who wanted to clean up the north end gambling joint has now learned that the highly edifying thought of an officer holder at a suffrage meeting are in reality no index as to what can be expected in the way of law enforcement.

Lawyer Over Contract.

Mayor Tom Hector and members of the city council were mandamus yesterday to appear in the district court January 23 to show cause why they should not give the contract for feeding the jail prisoners to Mrs. Martha Link at 11 cents a meal.

Arthur Young & Co., auditors, of Kansas City, have advised City Clerk Perry Wheeler that they will not bid on the $500 job of auditing offered by the city of South Omaha because there is no way of checking the present books of the city without an expenditure far in excess of $500. The letter from Young & Co., who spent thirteen weeks on the local books some years ago, is illuminating in the extreme. It says the expenditure of $500 by the city is worse than useless and that no competent auditors could do a thorough job without charging more than $500.

It is remembered that when Arthur Young & Co. were here some years ago they lost money on their contract, which took thirteen weeks to fulfill. At one time many respectable ex-officio holders were much perturbed when some bonds made their appearance. After that the attempts to allow the auditing company to go back over the old books and check for ten years met with a stern refusal. The council said the charter provision for spending $500 on the books was mandatory and would not permit them to expend more money.
